The fertilized ovum grows into a blastocyst then undergoes hatching and implantation. It's at this stage the potential of a new life is formed. Questions 2. Hoping to find a person with a cardiac problem we went to the cardiology center. There we were greeted by the receptionist who let us in. She asked us some questions about our condition and then she told us that she had a particular patient who had undergone surgery. He had a heart problem but there was no need to call the surgeon to be operated because he was recovering well. The reason we were there was that there were doubts about his heart. This patient had some stents placed in his heart and our task was to take X-rays of his heart and to tell his doctor that there were some signs of a possible problem. Questions 3. When the patient left the center he went to his room to get undressed. He changed into underpants and put on a pair of socks. In his room were some coats and some shoes and his cardiologist told us to take his coat and socks. His doctor was waiting for us in the corridor and we went to the operation room. We gave the patient the kit that contained the devices we needed to operate. One of these was a nasal probe that would be used to put the patient to sleep. The operation was very delicate and we needed to operate in certain ways so that the patient would not feel any pain. The patient was instructed to stop smoking because it could influence the surgery negatively. We needed to put in the right amount of medicine so that the patient wouldn't have any anxiety. Questions 4. We have some X-ray films to analyze, we will also need a cardiologist's opinion. The cardiologist is waiting for us in the hallway, he was waiting for us because the patient was still recovering from the operation. He told us to go with him to his office to give the patient the results of the tests we had made. Once he was sitting in his office we could see that he was relaxed and he seemed to be in a good mood. We asked him if he was up to date in terms of medical knowledge and he told us that he had a few courses in medicine. We told him our findings and he told us to take some of the X-rays to the department of radiology. In the X-ray department he told us to give the films to the technician and that she would make some calculations 82157476af
